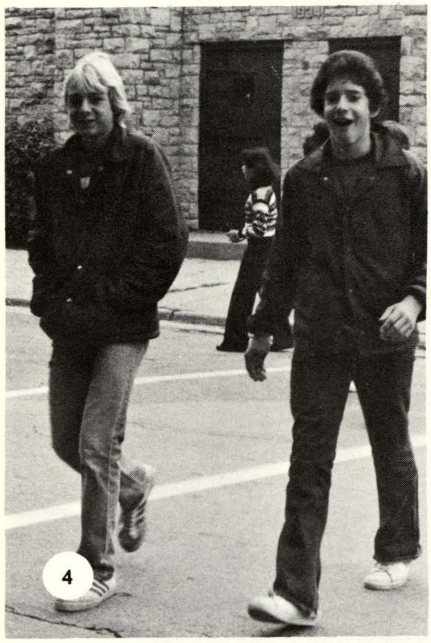
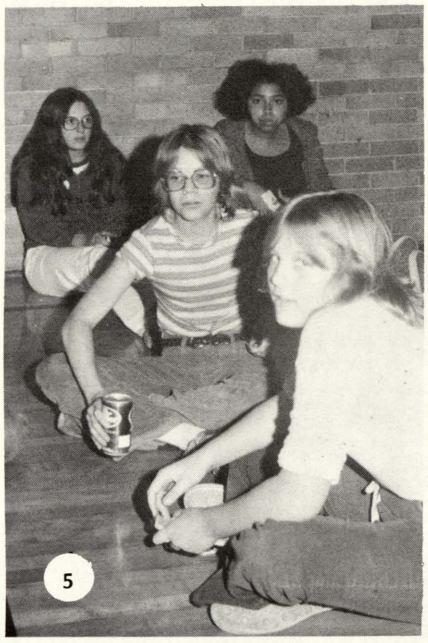
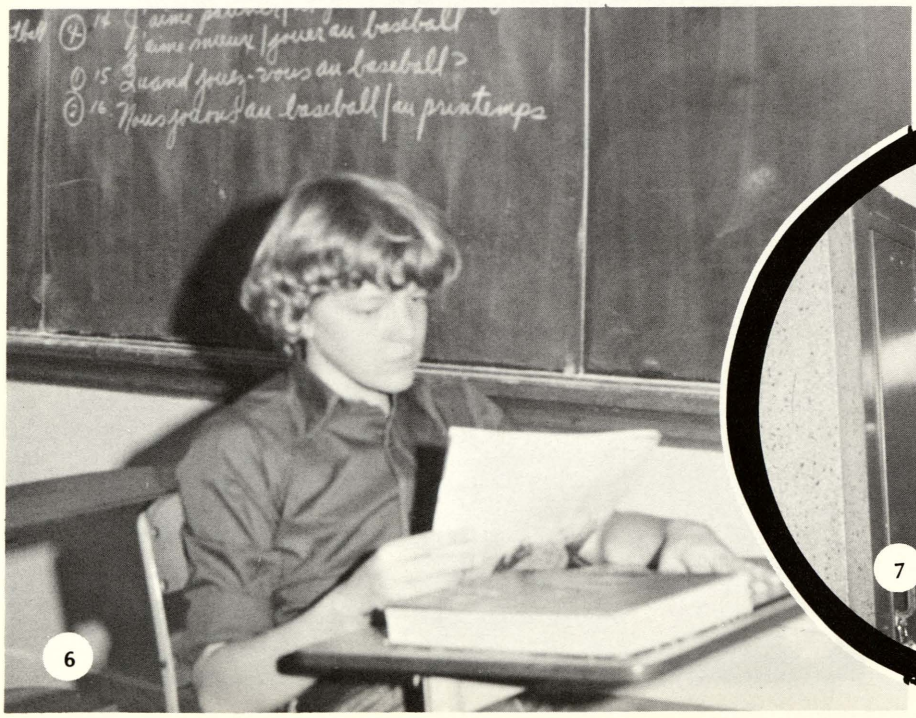
Way to Go

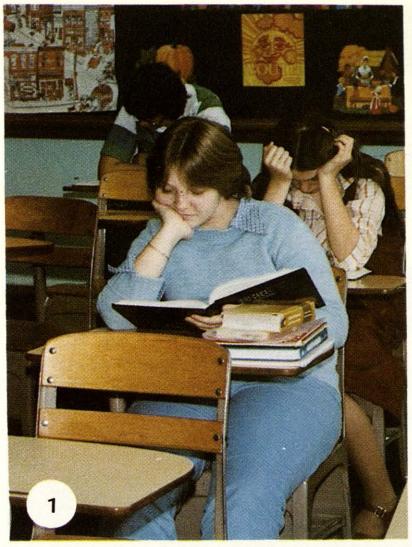




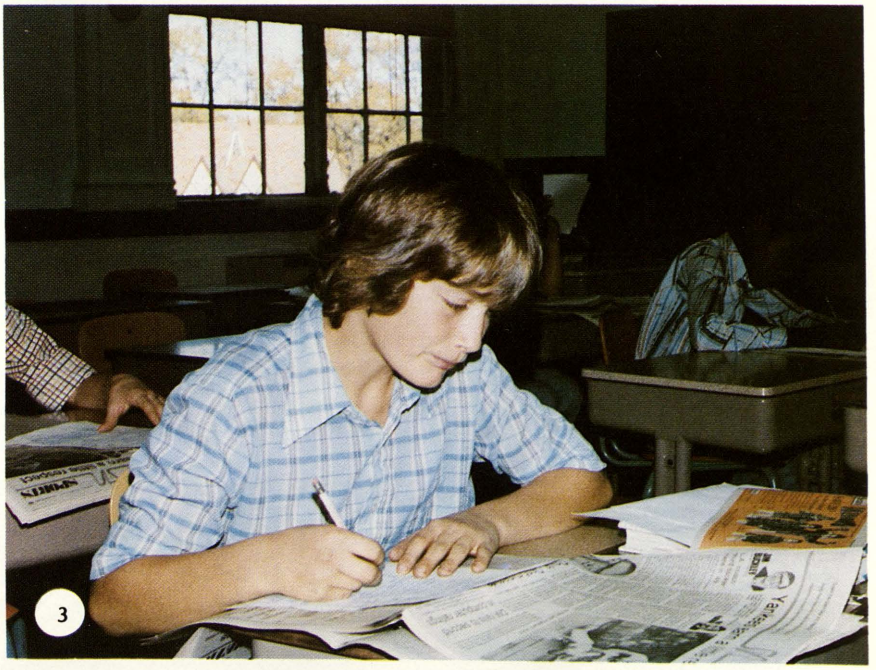
1. Having no homework makes Gerald Austin appreciate the end of the day more.
2. Coming in from a homeroom football game are Leah Diebold and Debra Bryan.
3. Kim Basse and Debbie Black enjoy the jokes of John Fallis.
4. Brian Suppes and Wesley Rittenberry's lunch hour ends as they head back to South.
5. Rhonda Cottle, Sue Watson, Phiedra Patton, and Terri Mallak discuss their daily routine during their lunch period.
6. During an eighth grade social studies class, Brian Forwerck takes his turn and reads his part in a Junior Scholastic play.
7. Terri Gamez stops at her locker before fifth hour to drop off her jacket and pick up her books.



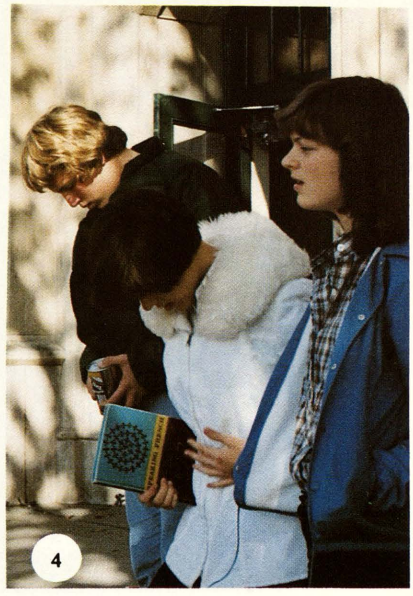
This year's road to South led to many turning points. Along the sometimes bumpy roads, we ran into many detours such as: Monday mornings, unfinished homework, forgotten absence slips, eighth hours, lost books, and report cards. There were some shortcuts, however, like seventh hour on Friday, pep assemblies, lunch hours, and dances. Follow the signs, and retrack your year at South.

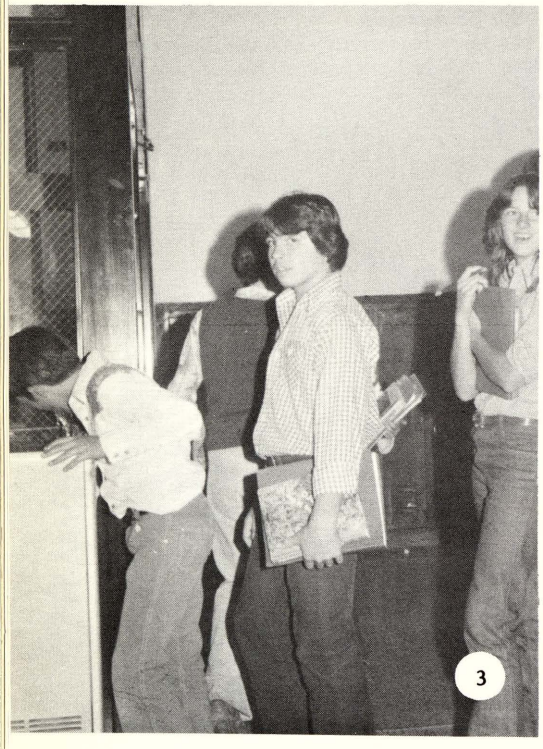


1. Shirley Metzger enjoys a literature book in Mrs. Reagh's English class.
2. Lori Young and Lisa Anderson have a friendly argument.
3. In Mrs. Geeting's class, Robert Griffore finds facts in THE SAGINAW NEWS.



1. Jenny Sylvester, Kevin Egerer, Frank Becker, Karen Martin, Eddie Gonzales, and Dianne Crigger take time out from their activities to smile for the camera.
2. Randy Baumgartner and David Johnson prove that they are not camera shy.
3. A group of students enjoy the sunny weather during a noon hour on the boulevard.
4. Jerry Rethman, LeAnne Moran, and Leslie Moran wait for friends after school.





1. Angie Charleston and Glenn Cronkright are making toothpaste in science class.
2. Jenny Eckhardt, Kirsten Sheets, and Dawn Grenell have fun in math.
3. David Elmer and Sandee Miller wait in line while Marq LaValee takes a drink.
4. Jackie Kocks, Severine Porter, RoyceAnn White, and Shirley Hernandez make decorations for a party in cooking class.
5. Kelly Moser, Tammy Bird, Libby Ederer, Holly Collison, and Merry Boettcher sit on the fence during lunchtime.

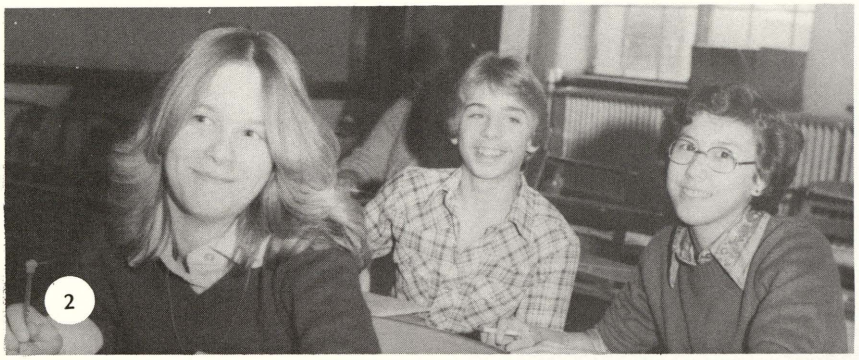
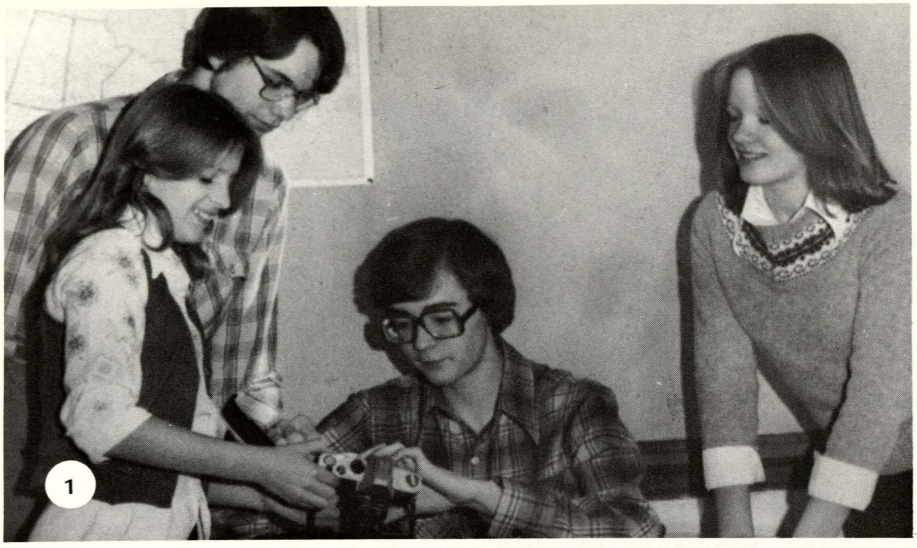
Journalism Staff Enjoys Challenge

1. Mary Wazny works to complete the art work for the REBEL REVIEW.
2. Susan Nagy, Scott Kuhlman, and Jennifer Lian pause from their work to pose for the camera.
3. Jodi Rousseau works on her die-cut layout for the January deadline.
4. Susan Ederer and Marilynn Ignash work on their layouts for the yearbook.

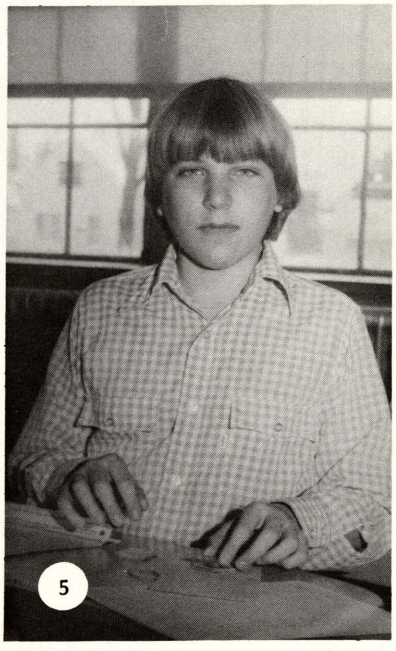


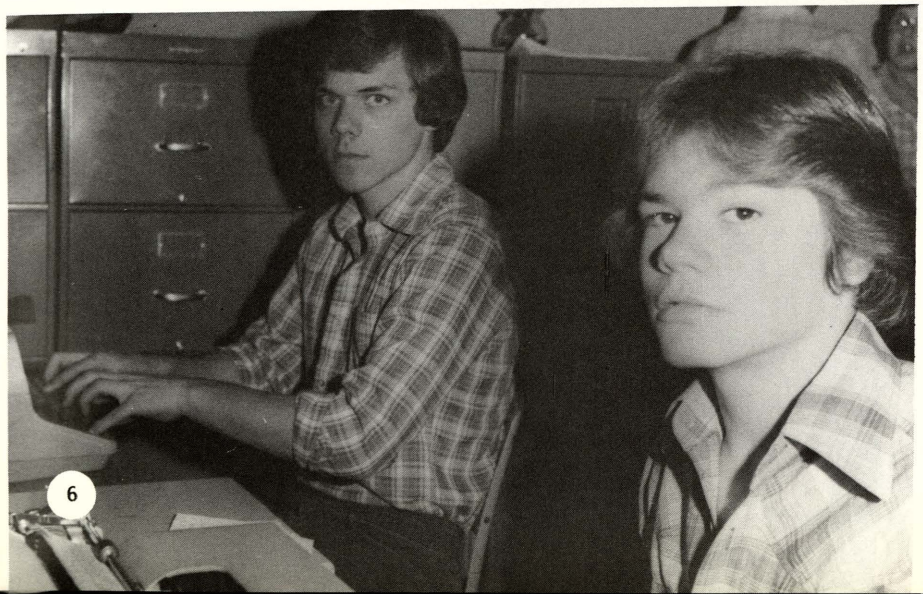
Seventeen people made up the journalism staff for the 1978-1979 school year. Their job was to produce the yearbook, which means writing copy, taking pictures, and meeting deadlines. In order to complete work for some deadlines, the staff came in on snow days, while everyone else was out of school. In addition to working on the yearbook, the staff also produced the REBEL REVIEW, the school newspaper. The help of advisor Mrs. Helen Sparks and Mr. Robert Carlyon and his printing class was greatly appreciated and helped to make the staffs' work easier. For the people working on the journalism staff, it provided a wonderful opportunity to develop new skills.

The members of the journalism staff are as follows: (bottom to top) Scott Kuhlman, Gil McRae, John Parrent, Daivd Piening, Mary Wazny, Susan Ederer, Marilynn Ignash, Susan Nagy, Diane Dodge, Sarah Spradlin, Jodi Rousseau, Debbie Kochalka, Jenny Ferguson, Jennifer Lian, Chris Hare, Paul Stewart, and Bryson McCulloch.

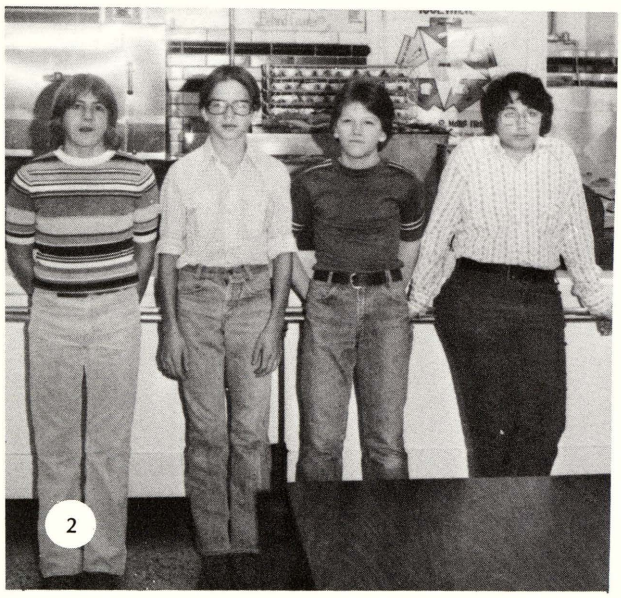


1. Jenny Ferguson and Bryson McCulloch load the camera while Paul Stewart and Diane Dodge look on.
2. Looking through old yearbooks to get ideas is Sarah Spradlin.
3. Debbie Kochalka works to complete her layout before the bell rings.
4. John Parrent carefully crops his pictures for the yearbook.
5. Caught by the camera is David Piening as he works on his diecuts.
6. Two of our typists this year are Chris Hare and Gil McRae.





Staffs' Services Are A Necessity



1. Tracy Chalenko, Louise Rutland, Kristi McIntyre, Lisa Anderson, and Terri Gamez help the counselors in the Counseling Center.
2. Joe Gillespie, Jim Zolinski, John Cramer, and Victor Sadet are some of the staff who work in the cafeteria.
3. Helping Mr. Harold Day with the audio visual equipment are John Parrent, Charlie Wehner, Brian Pattison, Todd Zill, Ron Gage, Steve Gibbs, and Kris Wise.
4. Jill Goodwin, Julie Dunham, Kelly Prindle, Debbie Baumgartner, and Lori Young help out at Little South.

1. The main office staff this year consists of Diane Crigger, Sarah Rockwell, Jane Young, Jeanette Proux, and Leigh Westphal.
2. Dorrie Quast is a helper in the main office and Laurie Beauregard is on the library staff.

1. This years mixed choir is made up of the eighth and ninth grade first hour class and the seventh grade choir. The mixed choir performed at the Christmas and spring concerts.
2. Seventh graders enjoy their first year of choir at South.

Bands Experience Changes

This year Dr. Lloyd Jensen came back to teach the bands, but had to retire at the end of the first semester because of his health. Mr. Richard Jensen from Authur Hill High School is teaching the first two hour bands. Mrs. Beverly Cowles is teaching all the afternoon classes.

There was no Winter Concert because of Dr. Jensen's health. The bands sold cheese and sausage to raise money for a new sound system which was purchased in January. The Symphonic band went to Davison for the AA band competition in March.

Tammy Tell Me True A True Success

"Tammy Tell Me True", this year's school play, was acclaimed by many to be one of the best play performances ever at South. Besides being an outstanding play, the cast, consisting of 32 speaking parts, was the largest ever to perform on South's stage. The play was about a young river girl who decides to move to the city and go to college. There she meets her old boyfriend who isn't exactly glad to see her, later she learns that everyone in the world isn't as kind as she thought. The result ends in a lot of fun for the audience and the play cast as well. Mrs. Brenda Palmateer, director of the play, did an excellent job, and everyone involved with the play worked very hard to make TAMMY TELL ME TRUE a true success, and it was!

1. Tricia Carlyon tries to put her cat in orbit while Mike McLennan rushes David Wehner off the stage.
2. Arriving at the office of the Dean of Women, Kathy Smith talks with Kristi McIntrye and Jill Goodwin.
3. Kristi McIntrye runs into Bryson McCulloch on the college campus for the first time.

1. Kathy Smith struggles to get away from Bob Boshaw and Karen Sommerfeld as Andrew Smith looks on.
2. Matt Coulter gives a word of advice to Kristi McIntyre on the campus.

Girls' Swim Team Known For Friendliness As Well As Competitive Skill

This year's girls' swim team, coached by Mrs. Carol VanArsdale, displayed more than the skill and interest needed for a good team. It also showed friendliness and sportsmanship towards members of other teams. Being number one is not an easy task to perform in swimming. The competition is rough and the practices seem unending. But the competitive spirit that the girls had this year made that goal seem closer at every meet.

1. Jenny Adams prepares to compete against other swimmers in one of the meets at Arthur Hill.
2. Arika Larsen displays her determination to master a stroke during one of South's swim practices.

Rebels Take Co-Championship In City

Last year's baseball team shared the city junior high championship with Webber. The Rebels took the co-championship with a record of six wins, one loss, and one tie. Under the coaching of Mr. Carl Jacobson the Rebels had a very promising season. Keith Whyte, playing first base most of the time, led the club in homeruns with two. Charlos Ramirez, led the team in hitting with a .556 average, one homerun, and 11 runs batted in. Mark Mickey was the leading pitcher, allowing only nine hits and striking out thirty-nine. The team elected Steve Schaper and Thad Winieckie as co-captains.

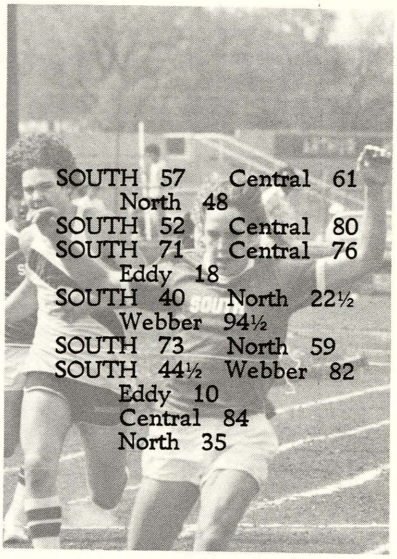
Rebels Run Up To Third Place

1

South's Rebel track team shows their skill and ability to work by having strong and dependable runners. The Rebels turned up new runners that went undefeated for the year or close to it. In the city championship they raised their record once more from last year's third. The team strongly held their ground against North and Eddy by beating them in every meet. The team strained and lost to Central in the first meet by only four points. Some of the outstanding people in the meets were: Dennis Downing, by winning the city championship in the mile and also went undefeated, Mike Budden by going undefeated until the championship, and Jon Phillips breaking many school records in sprints. The coach was Jeff Oeming and his assistant coach was George Kubiak. The Rebels are expected to prove themselves even better next year.



1. Leaping over a hurdle and concentrating is Mike Murphy.

Southern Sprinters Run With Speed And Rebel Spirit

South's girls' track team ran through a tough season and took third place in the city junior high finals. The girls' coaches, Mrs. Carol VanArsdale and Miss Val Stamper, were a big influence to the team during the '78 track season.

1. Jenny Sylvester was undefeated in the 880 yard run.

Softball Team Takes All

For the first time, softball was offered to all girls at South. The new sport was coached by Mr. Roger Little. Coach Little said that they played a great season and good team work was what led the girls to the championship. The captain of the team was Linda Schafer and Julie Norwick was elected "Most Valuable Player" Coach Little feels with more experience the girls will set many records in the future at Arthur Hill.

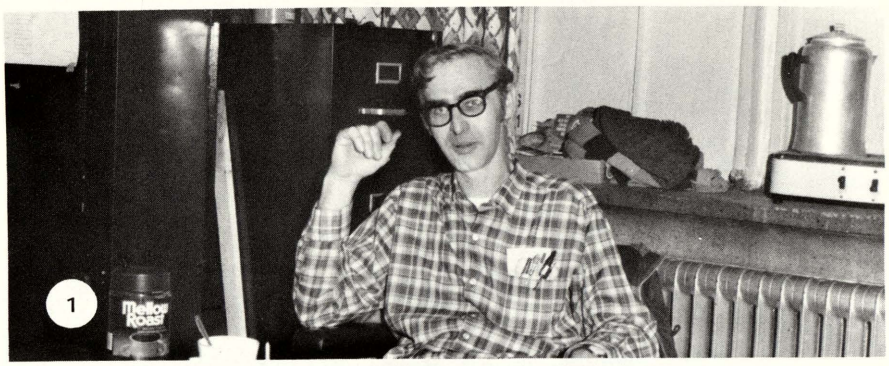
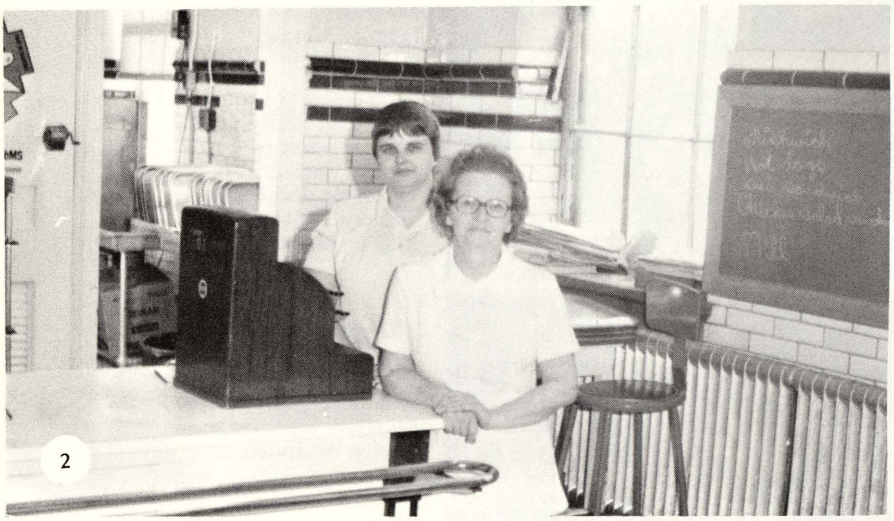
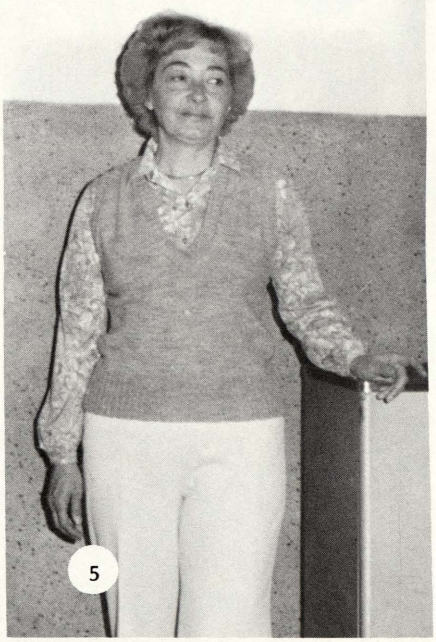
Adult Staffs Beautify South's Halls

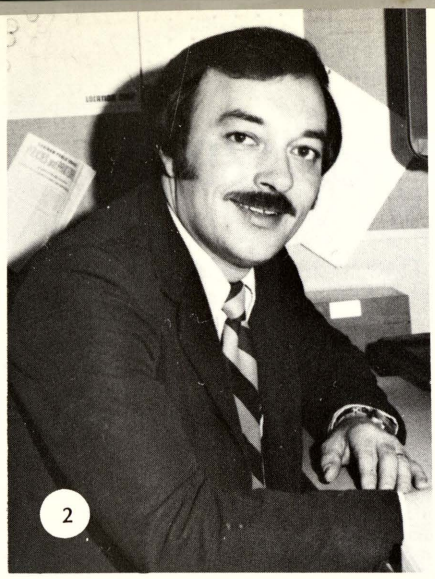
1. Mr. David Boice, the head custodian at South, enjoyed his first year here.
2. Mrs. Elaine Cramer and Mrs. Cathy Mudgett enjoy their work in the cafeteria at noon. Mrs. Phyllis Lesch's picture was not available for the yearbook.
3. Mrs. Theresa Boyd, a member of the janitorial staff, retired this year after twenty-two years of service.
4. Mr. Bob Becker was a student teacher in Mrs. Kelly's room in addition to being a para-professional.







5. Mrs. Rose Marr, a hall monitor, takes some time out from work to pose for the camera.
6. Mrs. Dottie Hill, another para-professional, enjoys her work here at South.



1. Mrs. Helen Tesch works as a secretary to Mr. Maas in the office.
2. Mr. Jerry Muylle works part-time at South as a police liaison officer.
3. Mrs. Mayme Ontiveros works in the billingual program as an aide to Mr. Jesse Gonzales.
4. The spelling team, consisting of David Piening, Trisha Deming, Mark Faupel, Susan Ederer, Lisa Fahndrich, and Kristina Kallos worked hard for the two spelling bees this year.
5. Marilyn Lewis, another para-professional, works in the special education department.
6. The participants in this year's Math, Olympics were Marvin Baldwin, Libby Ederer, Mark Faupel, Merry Boettcher, Bridgette Hinds, Brian Anderson, Holly Collison, Stephanie Gessender, Darci Horn, Lisa Fahndrich, Trisha Deming, Angie Tutera, and Steve Simpkins.

"Sign"-ing Off For '79

The "signs" around South were good this 1978-1979 school year. They will be remembered by all of us for many reasons. Some of the things that will remain in our memories will be Iran, the freezing temperatures, and peace talks in Israel and Egypt, as well as teacher changes here at South.

As this school year draws to a close, we, the journalism staff, would like to thank Mr. Ken Drake, our regional representative, Rummel Studios, for their professional pictures, Miss Marian Brown's art classes for their banners, Principal John D. Ekelof, for his advice, but most of all Mrs. Helen Sparks, our advisor, for her help, patience, and kindness.
